INFORMATION FOR AUTHORS

Editorial Policy—The Journal of Human Stress accepts for consideration original, unpublished manuscripts which are not being reviewed for publication elsewhere. (Occasionally excerpts from books are published at the approximate time of book publication.)

Articles should be based on or discuss research into ways in which the development and course of physical disorders in humans is influenced by environmental emotional stress.

Copyright—The contents of the Journal of Human Stress are fully protected by copyright; permission to reproduce articles in whole or in part must be obtained in writing from the publisher.

Manuscripts—Please submit the original version and two copies to the editors, Journal of Human Stress, Opinion Publications, Inc., Rural Route, 1 Box 396, Shelburne Falls, MA 01370.

Copy must be typewritten and double-spaced throughout. We prefer manuscripts to be no longer than 15 pages (including tables, references and figures). Tables and figures must be kept to a minimum and will be used only for data that cannot be presented concisely in the text.

Eight and one-half column inches of table space will be set and published at no charge to the author. Any table space beyond that may be published at a cost of $3.50 per column inch.

The abstract should not exceed 150 words. It should describe the problem, the method in which the problem was investigated, the results and the conclusion. A brief list of index terms should be provided.

References must be limited to those cited in the text and should be numbered in the order in which they are cited. The author is responsible for their accuracy. Abbreviations of journal names should conform to those used in Index Medicus. Please adhere to the following format:

1. Name of Author. Title of Book and Subtitle, edition, volume, chapter, page. Publisher, city, copyright year.
2. Name of Author. "Title of Article," Periodical, volume, month, year, page.

Degrees, position titles, affiliations and addresses are required for each author.

Review Process—Manuscripts are reviewed by members of our Editorial Board or by appropriate consultant reviewers. The review process takes from one to four months, at the end of which time the first-named author is notified of acceptance, rejection or need for revision of the paper. Review comments, if helpful to the author, are forwarded at this time. A stamped, self-addressed envelope must be provided for return of rejected manuscripts.

Edition—All accepted manuscripts will be edited by the staff of the Journal of Human Stress.

A copy of the edited paper will be sent to the first-named author for approval of any changes. He or she will be responsible for all statements made in the article, including these approved changes.

Final corrections must be made at this stage of production, inasmuch as galley proofs will not be sent to the author.

Reprints and Copies—Reprints may be ordered by the author upon publication.

The first-named author will receive 10 free copies of the issue in which his or her article is published. Five copies will be sent to each coauthor.
